RAGING GALE SWEEPS COUNTY SATURDAY NIGHT

COMPLETE AGREEMENT ON ARMS LIMITATION ASSURED

FRANCE BACKS OUT FROM NAVAL STAND

Agreement Reached By Five Great Naval Powers On Ship Limitation

Washington, D. C., December 19.—An agreement has been reached by the five great naval powers of the world on the limitation of battleship armament. Premier Briand has sent orders to the French delegation to back down from their demand for a navy greater than Japan's and to accept the decision of the other powers, that the French ratio in the 5-5-3 naval programme be approximately 1.75 per cent, it was learned today.

Assures Success
This act virtually assures complete success of the entire American programme for sweeping limitation of naval armament. Briand's decision removes the obstacle which endangered the entire programme.
Secretary of State Hughes, it is indicated may make an announcement of the French official acceptance later today.
The only remaining obstacle in the path of final and complete agreement to all features of the limitation programme is now believed to be the question of submarines.

Tokio Indignant
Tokio, Japan, Dec. 19.—A wave of agitation against the decisions of the Washington Arms Conference, which leaders interpret as part of a domestic political battle with little possible effect on international affairs, is sweeping Japan today.
Mass meetings have been called in Tokio to protest against the conference decisions. Some extremists advocate a demonstration on the return of the Japanese delegation from Washington.

TERRIFIC WIND STORM HITS CLEARFIELD-MUCH PROPERTY IS DAMAGED

Residents Awakened After Midnight By Howling Of Gale—Methodist Church Spire Bent And Twisted By Force Of Tempest Sun. Morning.

AUTO CRASHES INTO FALLEN TREES

The most terrific windstorm to visit this section in months hit Clearfield about 1 o'clock Sunday morning and caused damage amounting to many hundreds of dollars in this vicinity. The storm came out of the west and southwest. It uprooted three of the large shade trees in front of the Catholic church on Second street, and also switched a bunch of large limbs off the shade trees in front of the residence of A. W. Leonardson at the corner of Second and Walnut streets.
The force of the storm twisted the top of the steeple on Trinity Methodist church and left it pointing into the east at a rakish angle.

Lumber Shed Unroofed
The sheds in the lumber yard of John C. Graham on Leavy avenue were blown off and parts of roofs and chimneys were torn off all over the east side of town.
The electric sign at the Woodward & McPherson drug store was blown down and the copper cornice around the bay window on the front of the Leitzinger store was torn off completely and fell to the street.

The bungalow owned by Paul Baer on East Pine street, occupied by R. C. Noon and family were directly in the path of the miniature tornado as it swept up over East Pine street. The front porch was torn from the house as though by giant hands with a crash and noise heard above the storm for a block away. Some of the neighbors allege they heard Noon praying even above the sound of it all, but we don't believe that part of the story—unless he had a book with the words therein.

Wires Damaged
When the storm broke electric and telephone wires were blown every which way and for a time it was extremely dangerous to move about the streets. Chief of Police Hitt and officer Keoch were promptly on the job and dodging the debris flying through the air they patrolled the town hurriedly after calling the Penn Public Service Company and having their crew out to take care of the dangling electric wires. Wherever an obstruction was found in the street it was removed or a lantern placed thereon to guide travelers past the same.

Auto Crashes Into Wreckage
Shortly after the trees of the Catholic church were blown down the automobile of Ralph Ardary, occupied by Ardary, Andrew C. Butler and H. L. Morrison, ran into the wreckage and was considerably damaged. The police helped salvage the car from the wreck and securing an axe and a saw soon had the street passable for careful auto drivers.

The storm continued to blow fiercely all night long and continued all day Sunday much danger to roofs and windows occurring during the day.

Boy Gets Scare
Hile, son of Thornton Hile, going to the rescue of his pet dog when the storm overturned the animal's kennel Saturday night, was the victim of a freakish prank of the wind when he was badly tangled up in wreckage. He managed to escape damage however after several minutes battle in the dark.

CHICAGO "OASIS" SQUEEZED DRY

Police Squads, Minus Search Warrants, Raid Clubs, Saloons And Homes Monday.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 19.—Police smashed into homes, clubs and saloons during the early morning hours today, seized liquor and threw the owners into jail.
750 persons, including the social elect of Chicago down to the residents of the alleys back of the Yards, faced police court judges this morning. Search warrants were not used in the raids on homes, police refusing to listen to pleas of "home sanctity."

Chicago, long known as the "oasis of America" was squeezed dry. 200 saloons have been closed and the owners of others put padlocks on the doors in disgust. Following the raids on the Casino Club, the most exclusive in Chicago, other clubs closed up. Hotelis posted notices to their guests in which they re-affirmed their belief in the 18th Amendment.

Coal Operators Reply To Charges Of Pres. Brophy

Place Responsibility For Situation In Local Field On His Shoulders

The dormant coal operators-mine union controversy which has been waged here for the past months, stirred into flames again by President John P. Brophy, District No. 2, United Mine Workers of America, Saturday, when he charged the Central Coal Association was trying to wean workers from miner officials' views, was given further impetus today when T. H. Watkins, official spokesman of the Coal Association, sent a telegram to President Brophy, charging that his official attitude during the past nine months is now responsible for the present situation in coal circles here.

His telegram is as follows:
"Your telegram of December 17th reason. The entire responsibility relative to our policies would not for the terrible situation into which district No. 2 has been drawn is definitely another attempt on your part to fasten your union's absurd and pauperizing wage policy on the workers of this district. You are now seeking an opportunity to appeal through prejudice and fear since you have no longer an appeal to Continued from Page Six

ERIN THREATENS RENEWED WARFARE

Dail Leaders Denounce Anglo-Irish Peace Pact As 'Rotten Document' Not To Be Accepted.

REJECTION MOVED

Dublin, Ire., Dec. 19.—Renewed warfare on England was threatened by the Dail Eireann today during debate on ratification of the peace treaty.
"I hope to continue to fight even though this rotten document is accepted," cried Austin Stack, member of the Irish Cabinet.
"I would have Irishmen remain slaves to the end of time rather than consent to such a document," said President DeValera.
Tom Plunkett moved rejection of the treaty.
"It is unsatisfactory," he said. It means we must be false either to our oath to the Empire or our oath to Ireland. As men of honor, we must uphold our oath to the Republic and under no circumstances will I endanger my personal honor in this respect."

ARMED GUARDS WALK WALL STREET

Warning Letter Telling Of Another Bomb Plot Stirs Up New York Financial District.

PLOTTERS ITALIAN

New York, N. Y., Dec. 19.—Special armed guards were on duty today in the New York Stock Exchange, the Sub-treasury, and other buildings in the financial district, while Wall Street was on tiptoe expecting another bomb outrage.
According to an anonymous letter of warning received by Charles T. Morgan, a broker a few days ago, Wall Street and an area extending for five blocks around was to be dynamited today.
This warning was received by Morgan over a week ago and immediately reported to police, who have been working on the case ever since. Their first object is said to have been to catch the bombers in the act of placing their explosives.

COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE OPENS

County Supt. Trostle Opens 58th Annual Session With Stirring Address To Teachers.

550 ARE ENROLLED

The fifty-eighth annual session of the Clearfield County Teachers' Institute opened today at 1:30. The devotional exercises were conducted by E. C. Reeve of the Presbyterian church. Prof. J. W. Yoder who is well known to Clearfield as one of the best musical instructors in the state is in charge of the music, which promises by the way the work started today to be the best Clearfield has even had. The enrollment of teachers was the largest ever recorded at an opening session, about 550 out of 578 being enrolled. More will be in by evening.
County Supt. Trostle spoke in part as follows:
"We are living in an age in which great demands are being made on the public schools, an age fraught with great possibilities for weal or woe for generations yet unborn. The crying demand of the day is for men who stand four-square on every issue, those who will not yield to the expedient when the expedient runs counter-wise to right and justice."

MURDERCASENEXT

The December term of Criminal Court opened this morning with Judge Bell presiding and a large list of cases on the list for trial.
By arrangement with the attorneys interested it was decided to take up the DuBois cases first and after they are disposed of, the Madeira murder case will go to trial.
The first case called this morning was that of the Commonwealth vs. Angelo Caramella charged with dynamiting the house of his brother Leonard Caramella some two or three months ago.
The Caramella's live on the "Flat" at DuBois and there has been bad blood between the families following the pulling of a poker joint by Sheriff Gorman several months ago in which all the principals in this suit were involved.
When the raid was made an attempt was made by everybody involved to place the blame on the other fellow and this "passing of the buck" was (Continued on Page Six)

SHERIFF NABS ANOTHER STILL

Liquor Cache Near Osceola, Supply Base For Bootleggers, Falls Into Official Hands.

ARRESTS MADE

Sheriff A. M. Gorman and Deputy Sheriff Gilliland made another raid on the moonshiners, who have been polluting the Osceola and Philipsburg country with "white mule" the past few months.
The County Officers were assisted by Squire W. H. Liddle and Chief of Police Daniel Brink of Philipsburg.
About 8 o'clock the party descended on the home of John Shultz, located at the foot of Mapleton Hill, about midway between Philipsburg and Stumptown, a suburb of Osceola.
They found Shultz at home and allege that he was not only engaged in the manufacture of moonshine but was disposing of his product to the trade.
Like the fellow with the better mousetrap, Shultz it is said made a little better hooch than the "regulars" and some of the other Osceola moonshiners and the thirsty not only wore a path to his door but blazed a trail through the adjacent brush and even came in automobiles. In fact when the rum raiders reached the Shultz home they found a couple of automobile loads of customers loading up their Sunday hooch.
They were all taken into custody and held until the raid was completed when they were allowed to go after being listed as witnesses for the trial of the moonshiner. One bunch from Philipsburg asked the officers to hurry up the proceedings, as they had a jitney standing outside that was hired by the hour and the cost was mounting with the delay.

MURDER SUSPECT BELIEVED ROBBER ONCE JAILED HERE

Man Giving Name Of Wm. Hill, Nabbed For Slaying Of Girl, Once Threatened Lawyer.

William Hill, whose home is said to be at Gley Hazel, is in the Elk county jail, held as a suspect in the murder mystery of Miss Margaret Warnbrodt, of Johnsonburg, last week. Hill was arrested in Bradford and brought to Johnsonburg Saturday afternoon. For fear of mob violence Hill was hustled through to jail. Hill was immediately stripped of all his clothing and stains that looked like blood, back and added another year to his sentence.

Hill is suspected of the murder of Miss Margaret Warnbrodt because of his peculiar actions on the night of Monday, Dec. 12, when the young woman disappeared. The circumstances surrounding his disappearance in Johnsonburg Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and coupled with his appearance Monday night when he returned, link the arrested man very closely with the murder. At least he must explain his night on the night in question.

Attorney J. A. Gleason and County Detective Hugh DeBruin, of DuBois, say the suspect in the same man who was held in the Clearfield county courts in February, 1914, and sent to the penitentiary by Judge Bell for from three to four years for robbery.

The man tied in the Clearfield County courts was from Johnsonburg and gave the name of Charles M. Hill. He was convicted of robbing Samuel Caskey at the Alpine Hotel in DuBois in December of 1913. He was prosecuted by James A. Gleason, Esq., in the first criminal Court held by Judge Bell. He was sentenced in the Arbitration room of the Court House and as he was leaving the room after having been given a sentence of from two to three years in the pen, he passed near Attorney Gleason and announced to the Attorney that he "would get him when he got out of the penitentiary." The threat was immediately communicated to the Court, who called Hill and stains that looked like blood, back and added another year to his sentence.

DuBois people who have seen the suspect in the Warnbrodt case say that Chas. M. Hill and Wm. P. Hill are one and the same man.

SEC'Y CHRISTIAN VERY CLOSE TO PRES. HARDING

President's Personal Secretary Accorded Almost Home Honors By First Family.

By RAYMOND CLAPPER (United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Dec. 19.—George B. Christian, Jr., in addition to being the President's private secretary, is almost his adopted son.

There is something parental in the fondness the president and Mrs. Harding have for Christian. Having no children, and having seen Christian grow up from boyhood, they come by this feeling quite naturally. Christian has always believed in sticking close to Harding. That's probably the reason he now sits just outside the president's door in the White House executive offices.

Christian worked on Harding's newspaper while going to school in Marion. When he came back home from military school at Chester, Pa., he got married, took a job in his father's stone business, and moved into the house next door to Hardings on Mount Vernon avenue in Marion. Years later Harding was elected to the United States Senate. He came to Washington and soon sent for Christian to come here as his secretary. Christian was at Harding's side in Chicago when news of the nomination came. He was with the candidate election night. He stood a few feet from his chief during the inaugural ceremony last March. And then he went into the White House offices and took the desk by the door leading into the President's office. He goes with the President on all trips out of Washington.

MAKE YOUR VOICE HEARD

Secretary Mellon of the treasury, in a letter to Representative Fordney, chairman of the committee on ways and means of the house of representatives, says: "Ordinary expenditures for the first three quarters of the fiscal year, 1921, have been $3,783,771,596.74, or at the rate of about $5,000,000,000 for the year. . . . According to the latest estimates of the spending departments, . . . ordinary expenditures during the fiscal year, 1922, including interest on the public debt, will be over $4,000,000,000."

"The nation cannot continue to spend at this shocking rate. As the President said in his message, the burden is unbearable, and there are two avenues of relief. One is resistance in appropriation and the other is the utmost economy in administration."

R. C. Leffingwell, formerly an assistant secretary of the treasury, whom I have quoted previously in these articles, and who is still deeply and actively interested in securing retrenchment in national expenditures, commenting on this utterance of Secretary Mellon, says: "Why should there be retrenchment in public expenditure? Why does the secretary of the treasury speak of current and estimated expenditures as shocking? What is the evil that we are discussing and what is its effect?"

"Government expenditures must be met from taxes. To the extent that they are not promptly from taxes and from honest taxes directly laid upon the incomes of the people, and in proportion to those incomes, exaggeration of the evil of government expenditure is avoided. Government expenditure takes the money of all the people for the supposed benefit of a portion of the people, honestly or dishonestly, equally or unequally, avowedly by direct taxation, or surreptitiously by the indirect taxation which results from inflation of currency and credit and of the public debt."

"Government expenditure takes the fruits of the earth and the labor of the people and divers them from the productive and reproductive enterprises of men, from the natural enjoyment of the men, who by their enterprise, foresight and effort, created the wealth and made it available, to the sometimes benevolent and sometimes belligerent, but almost always economically wasteful, purposes of government."

"Government expends all of us for the benefit, or supposed benefit, of some of us. Yielding to the vague aspirations of men for a better world or a better distribution of the good things of this earth, government imposes upon all of us ever-increasing burdens in the effort to benefit vested interests and organized minorities."

"Each of the executive departments is concerned to improve its service and to discover new and useful fields of service. The entire organization of the army, of the navy, of each of the departments, independent offices and agencies of the government, is devoted to an important task. Its particular function seems of vital usefulness, even necessity. Experts in each are alert to its defects and to the opportunities for usefulness which have not been availed of."

"The secretary, or other head of the department, drawn from private life, perhaps wholly ignorant of the outset of the nature and extent of its problems, promptly becomes the advocate of the policies and demands of his permanent assistants and bureau chiefs. If he does not become such an advocate, he may break down the morale of his organization and possibly lose the confidence of his personnel."

"Behind it all is the pressure of organized interests in the constituencies, which are the beneficiaries of specific expenditures, operating upon politicians, executive departments, senators and congressmen. The strident voice of greed is heard in the market place and in legislative halls; the voice of the people is barely audible."

"The fact that each project is considered separately, without reference, either in executive departments or congress, to ways and means of financing it, prevents concentration of popular opinion on the awful total. All agree that there must be economy, but as each item is presented all seemingly agree that that is not the proper field for economy. There must be economy, but there must be a merchant marine, whatever the cost. There must be economy, but the government must pay high wages to railroad employees and furnish transportation on the railroads at less than cost. There must be economy, but the World War soldiers must have their bonuses. There must be economy, but Civil War pensions must be increased. There must be economy, but we must prepare for war, regardless of expense."

You know this is true. The new budget law will help very much this condition, but unless you are interested, continuously, actively, openly interested, your money will not be saved.

HOME BREWERS, BEWARE!

This home loving nation has also become a home brewing and home distilling nation. Some are changing their kitchens into distilleries. Many that began with home brewing are changing the brewing into distilling—because distilling is easy, requires less attention, the result is more easily hidden and transported, and it produces a more violent effect.

Here are facts that may interest you as you sit waiting for the brew to bubble, or for the little coiled pipe packed in ice, to pour out its condensed, murky reliable alcoholic poison.

Formerly beer fit to drink could not be made in less than one year. Then scientists showed that with greatest care, with machinery costing hundreds of thousands of dollars, with careful filtering, settling and refrigeration, it was possible scientifically to make beer in three months, free from dangerous ferments, etc.

But it can't be done in less than Three Months

And this highly intelligent nation or at least a large part of it, is blandly drinking beer, very badly made and about one week old.

It looks like beer, undoubtedly tastes something like beer, but you have no idea what it does to your body, "feverfully and wonderfully made" when it gets inside of you.

Doctors that know will tell you that beer of that kind can be safely guaranteed to give you Bright's Disease inside of five years, and the Bright's Disease is warranted to save you the trouble of any further home brewing after about five years more.

The home brewer is advised in the most friendly way to insure his life for the benefit of his family before he starts his career. A little while after he starts the companies won't insure him.

As for home distilling, that is shorter, easier and better than home brewing if you are tired of this life and would like to see what comes after it.

There are poisons in badly made whiskey that sometimes cause blindness and immediate death. That is the kindest sort of whiskey, it puts you out of your misery quickly, saves you much distilling and bother.

The least harmful kind of whiskey you can make at home is thoroughly poisonous, so is all whiskey for that matter. But the difference between home-made whiskey and whiskey scientifically made is the difference between the bite of a rattlesnake and the bite of a milder snake—it takes many more bites from the milder one to kill you.

It is too bad, also a fact that a much better investment than ordinary is to be found in the stock of a well organized graveyard concern. A few years from now, many fathers, brothers and sons, will be safely laid away at a profit to the graveyard stock holders.

On their graves there could, but will not be written "Here Lies a Home Brewer," or "Here Lies one that distilled His Own."—New York American

WHY GOOD MEN DODGE

The government service must look largely to the graduates from colleges and universities in recruiting for its technical work. Replies to an inquiry addressed to some forty of the leading colleges and universities of the country to discover what class of men took civil service examinations, whether the number is decreasing and, if so, the reasons, disclose vividly what the training schools of technical and scientific men think about the government as an employer. They warn their graduates against government service, and the graduates heed the warning.

Carnegie Institute of Technology at Pittsburgh, reports: "It is certainly true that the best of our graduates are not interested in government employment because they feel that, first of all, it does not pay adequate salaries, nor does it offer opportunity for advancement that private enterprise does. This spring I interviewed all the members of the graduating class, except the

CHRISTMAS—SAFE AND SANE

"Peace on earth, good will to men." Let this sink into the hearts of all Americans in carrying out the just pleadings of the Prince of Peace, and as an encouragement of our own, and the representatives of other nations now assembled and engaged in the endeavor to bring about this most desired condition. Pennsylvanians have much to be thankful for, and should be glad to practice the precepts taught by self-sacrifice for the good of others, by making personal efforts to benefit the neighbor and in helping to conserve resources and the preservation of precious lives.

Too often the Christmas season, which should be an occasion of unmixed cheer, becomes a time of tragedy in many households because of death or serious injury by fire. The highly inflammable evergreen trees and decorations, or cotton beard of a thinly disguised Santa Claus, frequently ignite from a lighted candle or match, and serious results ensue. It also increases the fire hazard, and releases the insuring company from liability for loss unless there is a special stipulation covering such hazard.

Full sway has usually been accorded children during this festive season and unfortunately there have been many instances recorded where sorrow has resulted through accidents that were preventable had ordinary precautions been taken against the use of inflammable material for decorative purposes and also from permitting the use of matches.

Make this holiday happy by adopting stringent precaution against the possibility of fire. Make it so by caution and the avoidance of carelessness in handling tree and other decorations. Flimsy decorations should never be used; they have been the cause of much sadness and numerous deaths.

Many entertainments will be given in homes, churches, schools, bazaars, stores and many other places where crowds will assemble. See to it that no decorations other than those of non-inflammable nature are used. Avoid as you would a plague the use of light inflammable decorations or material; they make easy and quick fires. Under no circumstances allow decorations of any kind to be placed near gas jets.

Where possible electricity only should be used for lighting trees or for decorative purpose, and the wiring should be done by a competent electrician. If impossible to obtain electricity, and candles are used under no circumstances permit the children to light or re-light the candles.

Do not use paper or cotton for decorative purposes. You invite fire by doing so. Use only metallic tinsel or asbestos material.

See that the tree is firmly fastened to the floor so that children cannot pull it over.

Do not permit the use of mechanical toys that require alcohol, gasoline or other dangerous oil to operate them.

Do not allow the use of cotton beneath the tree to give the appearance of snow. If the appearance of snow is desired, use mineral wool asbestos; it will not burn and gives a better effect than cotton.

The Yuletide season is, and by all rights should be, a time of joy and gladness. It is looked forward to year by year, and hearts should not be saddened at this time by the destruction of homes or injury to loved ones through carelessness and neglect.

Have merriment and plenty of it and avoid mourning by sensible precaution.

WATCH YOUR BOY

Now that the Christmas season is upon us once again the indiscriminate cutting and slashing of Christmas trees by the irresponsible boys of the community in the adjacent woodlands has begun, and the owners of these woodlands are up in arms over it, and who can blame them?

Parents should see to it that their boys keep out of the woods at this time and if they do not attempt to break up this practice some of them will have to pay dearly for it.

The State Forest law provides a fine of $25 for the cutting of any growing tree and long suffering property owners hereabouts propose taking advantage of that law and will prosecute Christmas tree cutters to the limit.

MERRY CHRISTMAS ASSURED FOR SICK WAR VETERANS

American Legion Will Send Squads To Visit Hospitals And Homes And Lighten Burdens.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 19.—(United Press)—Disabled veterans and their dependents in every community in the United States will be cared for Christmas day by Americans. Legion members, according to plans announced today by national headquarters of the ex-service men's organization.

Visits to the homes of sick and wounded ex-service men and to their families will be made by the Legionnaires and special committees will take care of the men still in hospitals. Entertainments and presents will be provided for the incapacitated veterans.

In connection with the Christmas visits, Legion investigators will obtain information in regard to striking cases of neglect of the disabled and their families, following which action the members of the local posts will take up the claims of these men with the government and will assist their families in getting proper care.

Legion Posts to Gather Names
Information in regard to the location of disabled men will be ascertained through Legion post meetings the Red Cross, local medical organizations, county and city officials, and if necessary, through house-to-house work by Legion committees.

"This is not a charity affair," said Hanford MacNider, National Commander of the Legion "It is the Christmas thought of one ex-service man for another who would expect his buddies to remember him if the positions were reversed. It does not matter whether the disabled lad is a Legion man or not it is a Christmas greeting between ex-service men."

Decidedly Incomplete.

"I don't like my Sunday school teacher," announced Honoria. "You mustn't talk like that," returned her mother. "I don't care," Honoria persisted. "The teacher doesn't know anything, she told us a splendid story and never said how it came out." "Perhaps your brother could give you the rest of the story," said Honoria's mother. "If you tell him what it was about." "Well, it was about Moses and the bulrushes and she never said whether the bull got him."

See Today's FRANKLIN

With a Score of Recent Improvements

AGAIN Franklin leads the way! It is the only car you can buy with case-hardened crankshaft bearing surfaces—the greatest advance in motor car construction in recent years.

The new crankshaft will outwear any other three shafts. This saves trouble, delay and expense. Also, because it has seven main bearings, instead of the usual three, vibration is unnoticeable. The Franklin is the only car that will go through an ordinary ownership without needing to have crankshaft bearings taken up.

Franklin Policy Gives Owners Immediate Benefit of Latest Proven Advances

This crankshaft is only one link in the chain of automobile progress shown in the Franklin of today. Others are just as outstanding.

Starting is easier than ever—improved electric vaporizer, new starter with brisk turning power. Perfected silent chain starter drive and the patented Long-type aluminum pistons also insure quiet engine operation.

Drive shaft, universal joints and important bearings are larger. Spring pivot bolts are adjustable. The last word in durable drop forgings' use now appears in certain load-carrying parts.

Lengthened rear springs; simplified ignition system; automatic lubrication of valves and steering yoke pins; most efficient service brake yet designed—each feature a real gain!

Quietness, Comfort, Reliability and Economy Mark Franklin Development

Back of all these advances are Franklin's 20-year-old principles of light weight, flexibility and direct air cooling (no water to boil, freeze or leak). The new benefits therefore merely serve to increase Franklin comfort, ease of handling, roadability, reliability and economy:

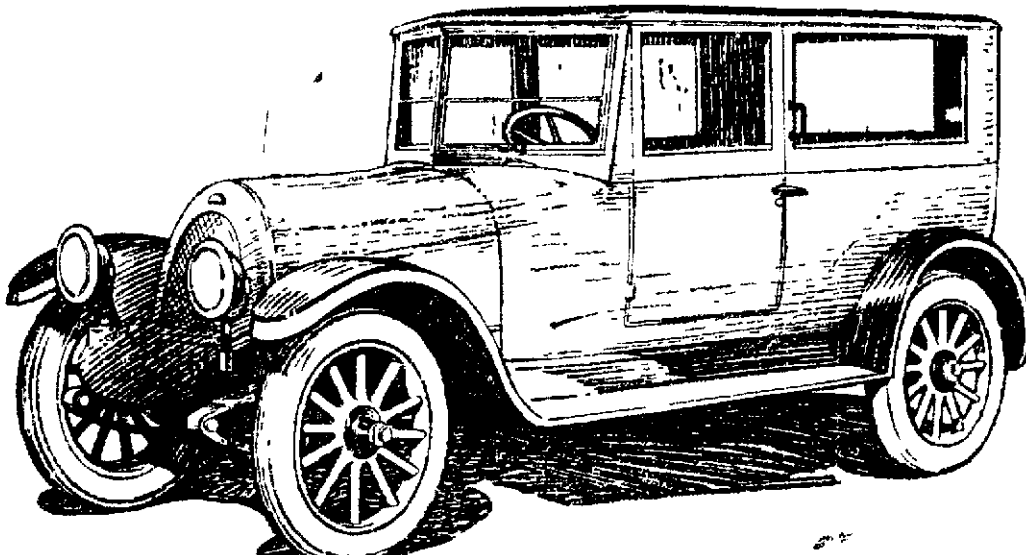

20 miles to the gallon of gasoline
12,500 miles to the set of tires
50% slower yearly depreciation

BLAIR COUNTY NIMRODS BREAK HUNTING RECORD

Twelve Deer And Five Bear Fall Before Guns Of Hunters In And Near Altoona.

Altoona, 19.—Twelve buck deer and five bears were shot within the limits of Blair county during the 1921 hunting season, brought to a close last week according to a preliminary report of Game Warden Frank A. Myers of this city.

The total deer slain in the county is the largest brought down in this territory for many years while the slaying of bear, within the county limits, was a real revelation to sportsmen and the state game commission.

Three of the bear killed in Blair county during the forty-five days season were killed at Tipton gap with the other two brought down just on the Blair-Huntingdon county line. The five bears are believed to have come into the county since the opening of the hunting season, being chased into the Blair territory from Huntingdon county.

the "head power" and only of late years has some attention been given to the development of the "hand-power," but both these tendencies have resulted in the almost entire neglect of the emotive or "heart-power." Our school system should be revised so that there will be a uniform effort looking to the development of the "whole boy" and the "whole girl," the development of "heart" and "hand" as well as "head."

We are beginning more and more to realize that the efficiency of the individual does not depend upon his knowledge—it does not alone depend upon what he knows—it depends far more upon what the individual is.

In the past our school systems have been founded upon the false assumption that "education" is "instruction," and even today we have some teachers who appear to be laboring under this delusion, the assumption is the boy's parents have sent him to school in order that he might be instructed and thus, the primary duty of the teacher is to convey "instruction" to the mind of the pupil, i. e. help him, or compel him to gain a certain amount of knowledge, much of which he will never be able to utilize in any practical way to the end of winning life's battles.

Teachers Born—Not Made

Some one has said, "Teachers are born, not made." But this is only a partial truth, for no individual is born with a full equipment of teaching power, yet it nevertheless is true that some individuals early in life give unmistakable evidence that they possess in an unusual degree the natural qualities of successful teachers.

In order to succeed in a large way a teacher must have, first, a right attitude toward life. This attitude should be one of same optimism and good cheer, founded on a well-grounded faith in humanity and in the ultimate triumph of right over wrong.

A second essential of success is faith in childhood. You cannot gain confidence of children without it.

Contrary to the old view that boys and girls, especially boys are bad by nature, I believe that they are essentially good.

Yet this faith does not assume that boys and girls are perfect and that they do not always need direction and at times even correction.

Faith Essential

A third essential in addition to faith in childhood. You cannot gain which teachers must have, is faith in themselves. Self reliance and self confidence are absolutely essential to the success of anyone who assumes responsibility or improves opportunity.

As a sure foundation of faith in humanity, of faith in childhood, and of faith in self a teacher to eminently succeed must have a firm faith in God, History both profane and sacred bears evidence this faith is the mightiest force for good in the world. In fact I do not believe that a teacher who is unsettled or skeptical in his views concerning a supreme being and who cannot say with Paul, "I know in whom I have believed, etc.," has any right to assume the honored role of teacher.

Dr. Van Ormer Speaks

Dr. A. B. Van Ormer of Juniata College who was in Clearfield several years ago occupied the next period outlining the plan of work and gave some very practical and helpful suggestions for teachers.

The next speaker was Dr. W. A. Matheny, of Ohio University, who is a specialist on nature study. While Dr. Matheny was a stranger to a Clearfield audience, yet after his first talk the audience all felt that they were quite well acquainted with him as he touches a common cord of interest to all.

The last speaker of the session was Dr. Roscoe Gillmore, Stott of Franklin, Indiana. Dr. Stott is a platform lecturer of nation-wide reputation. Dr. Stott has done lecture and Chautauqua work in practically every state in the union and never fails to entertain and instruct his audience. His address on the Educational Barometer was very much appreciated.

This evening the Irene Stolofsky Company will present a musical program which every lover of music should hear. The citizens of the town are cordially invited both to the day and evening sessions.

COAL OPERATORS ANSWER BROPHY

my associates of the depths of misery into which you would drag Central Pennsylvania unless you met us and made a reasonable modification of our present wage scale. Instead of meeting us you arrogantly refused even to discuss a situation which was as vital to the men you pretend to represent as it was to us. We and they together are reaping the results of your folly. Instead of heeding our warning you have deliberately concealed from your members the fact that more than 70 per cent of a normal weekly production of soft coal has been mined during this entire year in the United States. You have deliberately blinded them to the fact that they could have had their full share of the nation's business this year and next year by accepting a moderate wage reduction.

We have lost six million tons of our business this year to the non-union fields in addition to the amount lost on account of the general depression.

Unless a reduction is secured within thirty days I want you to know that you have condemned the men in this field to fifteen more months of the worst privation the District has ever known.

Our only chance to secure orders and work for them lies between now and March 31st when the sales contract season closes for the succeeding year. It is a pity you have no conception of the present situation and know so little of how coal is marketed.

You allude to five families in Ambury who have been asked to vacate our houses. No tenant of any of our dwellings has ever been or ever will be removed under the circumstances which you so unscrupulously pictured. On the other hand no tenant who persistently connects himself with an illegal traffic in liquor or interferes with the peaceful or social pursuits of his neighbors will be tolerated for long in our dwellings or employed by the company.

I am glad to say that we are able to at least shelter, rent free, in our houses several hundred families deprived of work by the "rule or ruin" tactics of your organization. They cannot buy necessities with war time wage rates. I have been fighting for nine months to get them pay envelopes. This company has observed every rate and condition of the contract to which you refer despite the many times it has been broken by union leaders and committees.

Last week I notified our people at twenty of our idle mines that I had exhausted every effort to secure orders for them at the present scale and had abandoned all hope of starting work again until a reduction in wages was agreed to. They were entitled to know this so they could decide how and where they would live next year. I now notify them that if any of the men at our idle mines comes to me and ask for work at reduced rates, which because of the reduced cost of necessities will permit them to maintain the accustomed standard of living, that then I will do everything in my power to see-

Poker Joint in Basement

The poker joint was in the basement of the building which contained the barber shop of Patsy Caramella, son of the prosecutor in this case and a few weeks after the gambling case was disposed of the barber shop building was dynamited.

Several weeks after this outrage a charge of dynamite was exploded on the front porch of Leonard Caramella's residence and caused considerable damage but the inmates of the house escaped injury.

The explosion occurred about 1:30 o'clock in the morning and when Leonard Caramella charges that when he looked out of the window about the time of the let-go, he saw his own brother Angelo running from the scene to his own home a few rods distance.

Angelo's arrest followed.

The "Alligator Pear"

The earliest mention of the manner in which the name "alligator pear" was first applied to the avocado, the true name of the fruit, is found in the writings of James Grainger, a Scotch physician and poet, who went to the West Indies in 1750, and died there at St. Christopher, December 10, 1754. Grainger produced a number of works, including essays, and among them "The Sugar Cane" published in London in 1750, in which he says, in allusion to the appearance of the name avocado: "The name, avocado, avocado, or the Avocado, is, although not pear."

BOSTON STORE AT CURWENSVILLE IS LOOTED SUN. MORN

Thieves Force Entrance And Make Get-Away With Wagonload Of Men's Clothing.

The Boston Store at Curwensville owned by I. Kantor, was robbed early Sunday morning last. Proprietor Kantor is unable to say just how much loot was secured but the haul will amount to between two and three thousand dollars. Among the goods taken were 20 suits of clothes, twenty or twenty-five pairs of shoes, silk shirts, hose and other men's furnishings. No clue to the robbers has been secured as yet, although Chief of Police Clark, one of Clearfield County's most capable and most successful police officers is hard at work on the case and promises a solution in the near future. The thieves used automobiles in which to get away with their spoils.

A BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

There is in this city an unusual opportunity offered by a company of national reputation and years of manufacturing experience, for a high caliber man to merchandise a line of pipe and pipeless furnaces that will meet the view of the most discriminating buyer, and appeal not only to the man who seeks value, but also to those to whom price is a factor.

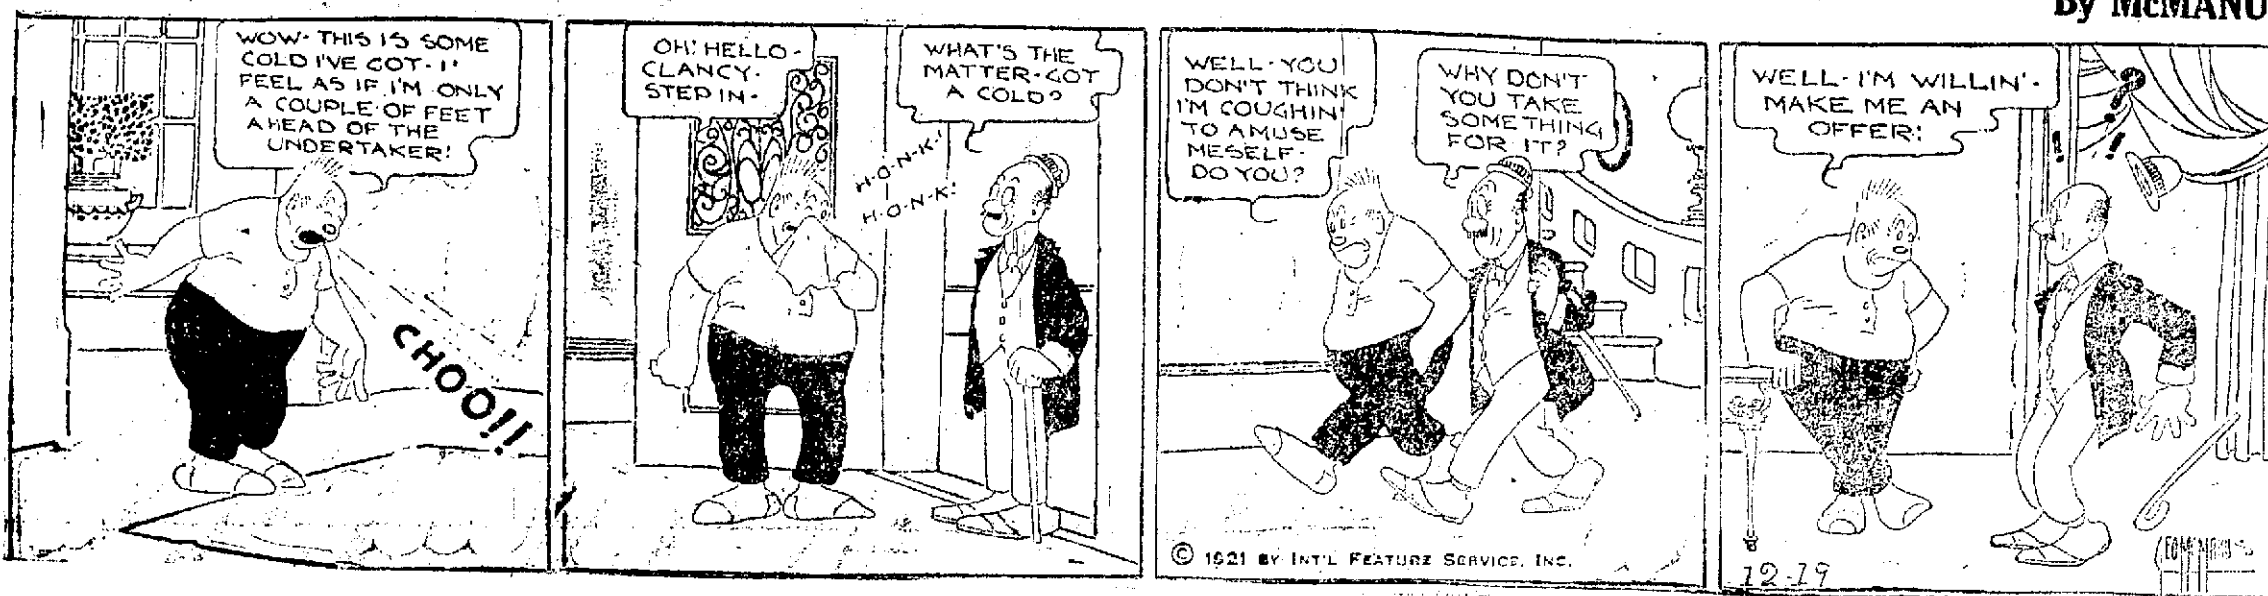

The man to whom this should appeal might be a man who has retired from business, but who wishes to re-enter something that will provide an outlet for his energies; or a young man with sufficient responsibility—or any man with ambition and aspirations to make 1922 a red-letter year in his life and provide for the future. He need not necessarily be a resident of this city.

To such a man, a most unusual opportunity is offered in a legitimate, dignified, and very profitable business of a permanent nature.

To the right man, exclusive agency will be given for this complete line of heating equipment and territory arrangement will be made to his entire satisfaction. Free scope will be given so that he can merchandise these utilities in a way that his past successful business experience has taught him. We will start him on the right basis and give him co-operation that will make the business a success in the start.

Address Box 500, care The Clearfield Progress, so that our representative may explain the whole matter. All correspondence will be treated in a confidence and the only obligation involved is the willingness to listen to a real opportunity.
